

2016 Clery Act Notice

Pitt-Johnstown Emergency Exercise

Annually, the Pitt-Johnstown campus conducts planned emergency drills as part of its emergency response preparations. On June 9, 2016, members of the Pitt-Johnstown Emergency Planning Group; the Pitt-Johnstown Police Department; the University of Pittsburgh Regional Police Commander and the Cambria County Emergency Management Agency participated in a tabletop exercise that reviewed the University response to a tornado touching down on campus. During this mock emergency, response to the threat; notification to the campus community, including actions to take; and rescue of building occupants was discussed and reviewed.

Participation in this exercise by the Pitt-Johnstown Emergency Planning Group is one part of a multi-faceted program to ensure that the University is prepared to respond to an emergency incident occurring on campus.

Notification of such an exercise, to University students; faculty; and staff is a requirement of the Federal Clery act.
